はじめちゃんが一番！①

Of course, I bet a lot of agencies will come to your house. You can consider those agencies and make your decision after that.

But just so you know, M2Pro is the agency that made "WE" become who they are now.

It would be such a shame if we can't train them into professionals.

These boys have great potential. I know you are very surprised about this.

So you want to train my brothers to become idols?

Is that right?

Uhm.

With the full conditions

Excuse me

That is right

So they can only walk to school. Their tuition fees need to fit our family's budget.

Also Hajime's school

They have to take high school entrance exams. It's useless, Mom.

Haji-
me

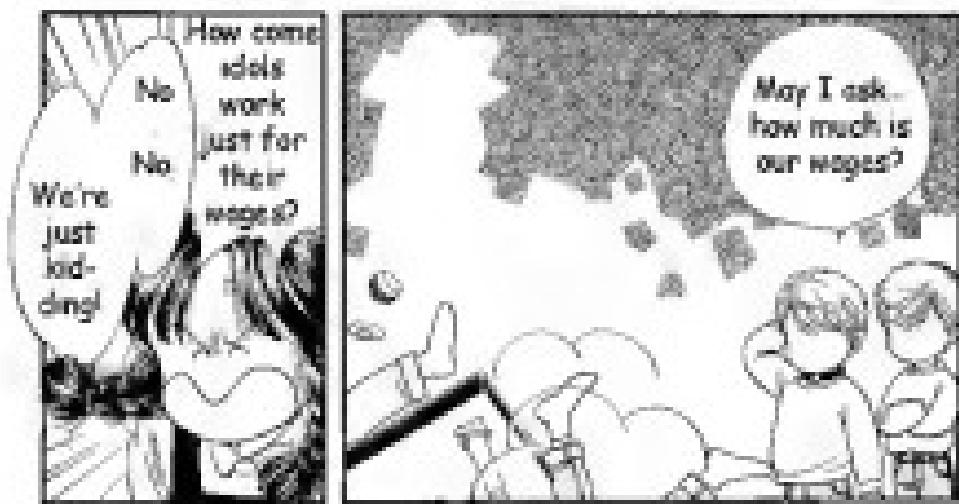

What would happen if they lose popularity when they haven't graduated yet? Would you still pay for their tuition? They would have to give up their education or their future we hope.

Please stop joking. How long can idols last?

We will pay for their tuition.

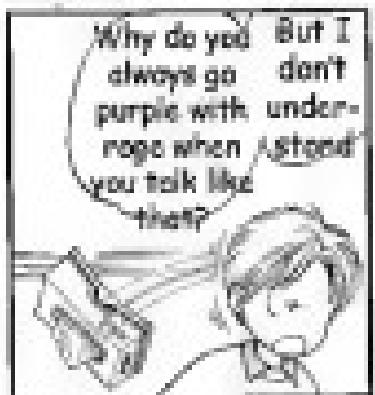

If it's just about school, we can arrange for them to study at a private school.

I AM the one to decide their stupid movements! You have no right to talk!

I never had the chance to help you do the things you wanted to do.

If that is what you want to do,

I'm not against it.

Uhm.

Mom, you say something too.

Yeah~!

MOM!

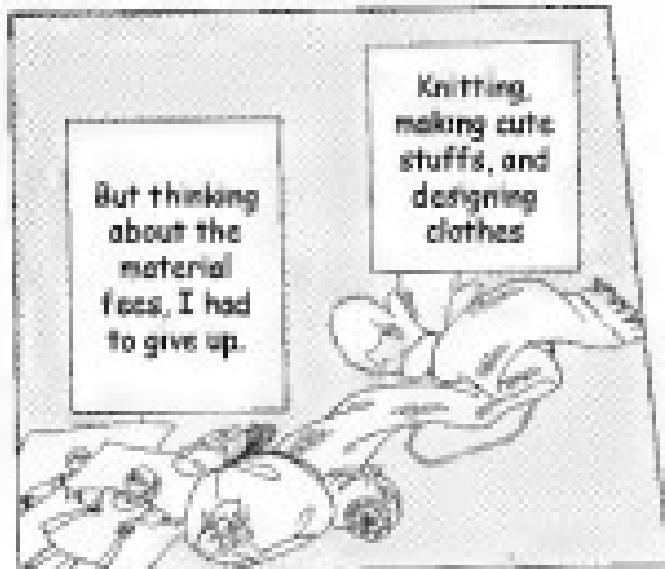

So we have to practice our signatures.

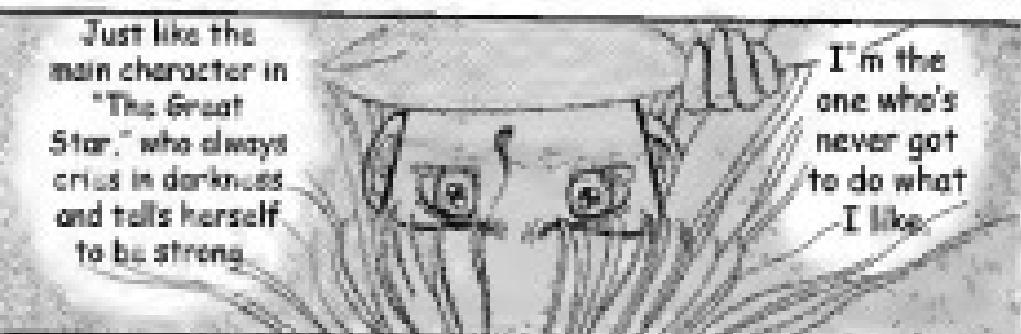

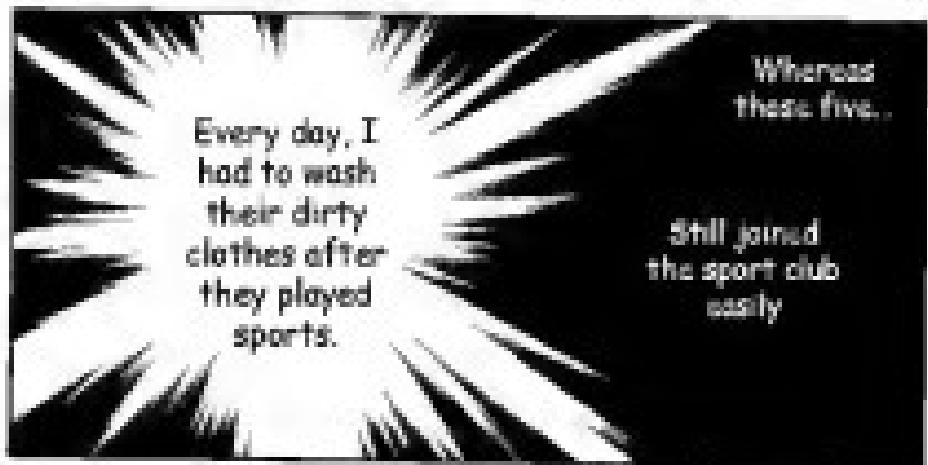

Oh

Who knows how famous they'll become!

This is no joke! If they become idols, our family would have to suffer from their fans.

Right

However,
no matter

I don't want

I've heard that you can sell WE's signatures at 5000 Yen.

I have no interest in idols.

Can I guide you to the practice room then?

By the way, WE's here.

It's actually not too hard to negotiate with your sister.

Let's go.

Yeah, right.

Hold up
